BARTS BOW TO ROSEVILLE

Jackson Hurls Fine Game But Mates Lack Practice; Play At Auburn Sunday

"Practice makes perfect," according to the philosophers, and the Bartlets haven't had much practice, so they lost, 6 to 4 against Roseville Sunday at Roseville, in the Placer-Nevada League opening game.

The Roseville outfit had played several pre-season games and with Roderick on the mound was prepared to fly at the Bartlets in regular form. The Bartlets, on the other hand, had been playing catch and chasing fungoes between showers and hadn't had a pre-season game.

Reggie Jackson, who hurled for the Bartlets, was in good shape and deserved a victory, if his mates had been in better shape.

As it was, the Bartlets were near enough in the running that they had winning run on second base in the ninth inning and Manager Sam Hern sent Perry Spanman to bat for Jim Schroth. But Perry hadn't had much batting practice, either.

"I think we've got a great team," Manager Hern reported Monday morning. "Give us a little practice and we'll get going."

Next Sunday, the Bartlets play at Auburn, coming to Placerville on Sunday, April 21, for their first "at home" game.

"Patrol Attack Outside the Westwall"

Passed by the German censor, this photo is described as an attack by a German patrol "outside the Westwall." The commander is flourishing a "potato-masher" grenade and appears all ready for immediate action, but his troops, for some reason, have their rifles slung out of the way over their backs.

El Dorado County Boy Scouts Will Endeavor To Fulfill Maximum Schedule; Two Troops In County Were "Tops" Last Year

A new challenge to El Dorado County Boy Scouts for the current year was issued during the weekend at the Golden Empire Council headquarters at Sacramento in the form of the 1940 troop index of achievement.

This is the scale upon which all troops of the council are rated for their fulfillment of the Boy Scout program and last year, two troops in El Dorado County, the Diamond Springs troop and the American Legion-sponsored troop, were among seven of the entire council which attained a perfect score.

In 1940, the Diamond Springs boys and the members of the Legion troop not only hope to repeat their record, but the members of all other troops in the county are determined to get into the top class, too.

The index was announced by Hazen Shower, Council Scout Executive as follows:

Court of honor, 250; troop good turn, 100; overnight camp, 400, during the months of January, February, March and April; father-son dinner, 400 points, January (time re-

Louis Miller Struck By Car Saturday Night

Louis Miller was cut and bruised when he was struck by a car on Main Street Saturday night in the vicinity of the bell tower plaza. It did not appear that he was seriously hurt.

The driver of the car was Harold Nichols, who was not cited in connection with the accident. However, Mr. Nichols was unable to produce his driver's license and was cited in that connection and fined $5 in city court Monday morning.

C. C. WISDOM INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT NEAR SAN BERNARDINO

C. C. Wisdom, of Placerville, who is in partnership with Lester Longhurst in the operation of the Round Tent Cafe, is a patient at a San Bernardino hospital for the treatment of injuries received Friday in an automobile collision in that vicinity.

Although the particulars of the accident, are not known, friends of Mr. Wisdom report they have learned that his injuries are not believed to be critical.

Wisdom was enroute to Placerville from Arizona, where he had been spending the winter. His daughter, Ruth, left for San Bernardino as soon as word of the accident was received.

Ranger George B. Young, of the forest service, was in the Grizzly Flat section on Monday.

El Dorado Woman's Leg Broken In Crash

Mrs. John Acuna, 42, of El Dorado, suffered a broken leg in an automobile collision Sunday at Seventh and W Streets, Sacramento.

The car in which she was riding, driven by Ernest Acuna, 31, collided with a car driven by Alfred Huizar, 18, of Arbutle. Mrs. Acuna was treated at a Sacramento hospital and removed to her home.

ALLEN OTTO SALES HEAD FOR SACRAMENTO AUTO DEALERSHIP

Allen Otto, formerly manager of the Russell J. Wilson automobile dealership in Placerville, has been appointed sales manager for Ellsworth Harrold, Ford dealer at Sacramento, it was revealed Sunday.

Otto had announced that he would be associated with the Harrold staff when his work in Placerville was completed, but had evidently been too modest to mention that he would join the organization as sales manager.

Prior to coming to Placerville, Otto was in the automobile business at San Jose.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Arnold and Mrs. Lettie Longhurst were in San Francisco Sunday to visit with the latter's husband, who is a patient at Fort Miles Veteran's Hospital. They report Mr. Longhurst is improving rapidly and has been allowed to sit up in a wheel chair.

Kelsey Couple Sued In Mining Deal

Claim Is Brought For Share In Sale Of County Mine Properties

A suit for $30,000 and an accounting of their mining operations, against Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Timm, of Kelsey, was brought last Friday in Superior Court on behalf of D. S. Childers.

The complaint alleges the existence of an agreement between the defendants and the plaintiff by which Childers was to share in the proceeds of the sale of certain mining claims known as "Jack's claims" and other mining property in the county which, the complaint alleges, includes the Alhambra mine.

The agreement alleged dates from April 10, 1935.

The prayer for $30,000 is claimed to be a one-third share of the sale of "Jack's claims" which are alleged to have been acquired for ten thousand dollars and sold for one hundred thousand dollars.

The plaintiff complains that he had made demand for a settlement under the terms of the agreement and that the defendants have failed to settle. He asks for $30,000 and an accounting of their dealings under the alleged agreement.

Burglary Suspects Are Returned To Stockton

The sheriff's office on Friday returned to Stockton Walter King, Chester Altice and Herman Bangert, who had been brought here from San Joaquin County following their "confession" of having stolen 360 pounds of lead from a county mine.

Sheriff Smith and Deputy Jones were unable to learn from what mine the lead was stolen and the suspects were unable to explain where they obtained the lead in this county.

The case has been called to the attention of Sheriff Joe Zwinge, of Calaveras County, since the local officers are suspicious that the lead, which had cement dust on it, may have come from that county.

District Attorneys To Meet At Al Tahoe

District Attorney and Mrs. Henry S. Lyon and daughter, Evelyn, returned during the weekend from Furnace Creek Inn, Inyo County, where they attended the annual meeting of the district attorneys' association.

The convention next year will be held at Al Tahoe, Mr. Lyon reports. Evelyn had a problem to solve with her convention attendance. She could miss school and lose a three-year certificate for perfect attendance, or she could miss the convention, and spoil a long attendance record there. She maintained her convention record.

SOFTBALL TO OPEN MAY 20

Sixteen Clubs In Field; Reuel Whigam Elected Association President

El Dorado County Softball Association will start its third season on Monday evening, May 20th, with a total of sixteen clubs in the field twelve in two men's divisions and four in the women's division.

This is the set-up following a meeting of association officers and team managers at which Reuel V. Whigam was elected president of the association, succeeding Dr. L. J. Anderson, who has led the association through its first two seasons.

Henry Carsten, of Camino, was named vice-president and T. S. Marlor was named secretary, with L. A. Brown as treasurer.

Sam Hern was named chief umpire for the series and will have charge of the selection of his assistants, all of whom will appear this year in special uniforms.

The association by-laws were amended to permit of the "staggered" system of electing directors and President Whigam, L. J. Anderson and Mr. Carsten were elected for two-year terms and Marlor and Brown for one-year terms.

Present definite prospects for the women's division provide for three clubs, the Placerville Cubs, Calor Girls and the Legionettes. There are several prospects for a fourth club, it is reported.

In the men's section, there will be two divisions. The "A Division" will include Caldor Company, Camino, CCC, Mac's Jumbos, Placerville Motor Parts and the Round Tent.

The "B Division" will include the Forest Service, Foresters of America, Camino 49ers, Diamond Springs Lime Company, Pacific Service Employees Association and Smith Flat.

Junior Play Is Given Praise

"Little Geraldine" Was Staged Friday Night At High School Auditorium

"Little Geraldine" will get along. The little heroine of the play of that name, given Friday evening by the junior class at the high school demonstrated that in the course of the three-act comedy.

The main floor of the auditorium was filled and the more choice locations in the balconies were taken, too, when the curtain went up on the annual Junior Play.

The school orchestra, led by Charles W. Ball, was heard in a creditable program of numbers prior to the curtain and also played between the acts.

The play was under the direction of Thomas C. Flynn, of the faculty, who shares with his talented cast in the pleasing aftermath of a successful presentation.

Eleanor Swift was Geraldine and Bill Dillinger was Bus, the principal male interest. Others in the cast included Caroline Wallace as Mrs. Lanning; Doris Toombs, as Lissa; Evelyn Smith as Tilly; Maxine Miller as Jiggs; Angus Sloan and James Holt as Nip and Tuck, respectively; Eleanor Chalker as Mrs. Montgomery; Bob Weidman as Marv; Sidney Price as Mel and Ruth Huff as Totsy.

Colleen Clayton headed the business staff with Bob Allen as assistant. Elisabeth Wilder was in charge of properties; Doris Onetti, prompter; H. N. T. Schultz, stage manager; Beverly Grout and Edith Young, properties mistresses; Norma Thompson, wardrobe mistress.

To each of these and to the orchestra, in proportion to their participation in the arrangement for the evening, goes a share in the success "Little Geraldine," the Junior Play for '40.

Mr. and Mrs. Spence Plummer announced that they have purchased the complete, large cactus garden from Mrs. Cora Miller of Gold Hill and have moved it to their nursery on Coloma Road. It is said this cactus garden is well-known throughout the county for its beauty and variety. Many of the specimens have taken prizes at the state and county fairs.

SHRINE BAND IS GRANTED USE OF WILSON'S CAR LOT

Following the free public concert which the Ben Ali Temple Shrine band and chanters will give Saturday night at high school auditorium, the visitors will be guests of El Dorado Lodge No. 26, F. & A. M., for refreshments at the Masonic temple.

The committee in charge announced Monday that Russell J. Wilson has granted the use of the leased car lot on which he holds a lease, for the parking of the visitors' vehicles that evening.

This will be a great convenience to the visitors, since the lot is directly opposite the Masonic Hall and the courtesy will spare them the inconvenience of hunting parking places for their cars.

Since announcement of the concert, the committee reports, there has been much comment throughout the county and the prospects are that there will be a large audience.

Meet Me at MIDNIGHT

RUTH LOUISE AYERS

Caroline Jay and Garret Cassidy love each other, but because Garret is a shiftless poolroom loafer, Caroline's mother has forbidden her to see him. Mrs. Jay, superintendent of the Avon Home for the Aged, wants Caroline to encourage Henry Avon, whose wealthy mother is head of the Home's board of directors. One afternoon Caroline meets Garret secretly and they get married. On the way back to town they strike and kill an old man, Pop Whistler, who has run away from the Home. Frightened, they leave him lying by the roadside. Caroline goes home, keeps a date with Henry Avon, and plans to meet Garret later. Mrs. Jay, however, who has found out about Pop Whistler's death and the unidentified young couple who ran him down, chances to see Garret loitering about the chapel at the Home, and she locks him in. Meanwhile, Sarah Evans, pretty young nurse at the Home, who has been secretly married to Dr. Phil Williams for five years, has brought her little boy, David, to the Home, to see his father. But Phil doesn't come, and Sarah leaves the Home to take the child back to the nursery.

CHAPTER XXVIII
DREAMING of the little boy beside her, Miss Evans slept until nearly eleven o'clock. Then she awoke with a start and stole out of David's room, downstairs.

As she put on her hat and straightened her dress, the matron of the nursery came in. Miss Evans thought, "Now is my chance to talk to her."

She said "Good evening may I speak to you for a minute?" The matron led the way into the parlor, her round face pleasant. "I hope David was all right," she said. "He's one of the best children we've ever had."

"You've given him excellent training," Miss Evans agreed. Then she paused. "But I decided today that he needs something else too."

The matron sat there, hands folded in her lap—her eyes kind. "They all need something that we cannot give them," she said.

"Yes," said Sarah, "and that's why I've decided to take David away."

THE matron had long ago learned not to question the people who brought children to the nursery home. There was no need of family histories. This home was not a charitable one.

Now she said to Sarah Evans, "We will miss David a great deal. He's become—well almost as dear to me as if he had been my own. But if there's a home awaiting him it will be best for him. If he were not in a home of his own it would mean he would be sent to a boarding school—summer camps or wherever you would be able to send him. Not a very pleasant life for a nice kid like David."

"I'd thought of all that," Miss Evans said and felt a little guilty. Until this afternoon, she had scarcely thought of David at all. "There's a home waiting for him?" the matron asked.

"I'm going to make one for him," Miss Evans told her and her sapphire eyes glowed.

EVER since David had been brought to the nursery as a two-weeks old infant, the matron had believed him to be Miss Evans' son. A mystery of course, had been thrown around the child but the matron took a situation like this tolerantly and kindly.

As she stood up she said, "I will make arrangements for the boy to go with you next week. I know, Miss Evans, that you are going to enjoy your nephew. He'll bring you a lot of happiness."

Miss Evans looked at her with eyes as direct as they were challenging. "David isn't my nephew—he's my son," she said. "I have been married, secretly, for five years."

It was the first time she had told anyone. She felt shaken when she had said it, and yet strangely elated.

The matron smiled. "I'm glad," she whispered. "You'll love him even more because he is so much your own."

OUTSIDE the nursery Sarah Evans walked down the street to a drugstore to call a taxicab. It was late and she must hurry. Events at Avon Home had slipped her mind. There was Hattie Penninger dying—Pop Whistler who had disappeared so mysteriously.

Sarah decided to call Avon Home first. The operator gave a busy signal.

"I'll try again," Miss Evans thought. It was strange that the house phone should be busy at this time of night.

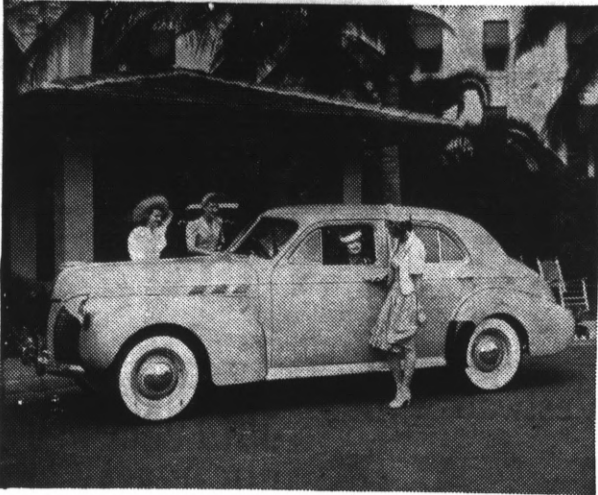

When she tried again, the operator said, "The telephone is out of order."

Puzzled Miss Evans called a taxicab. She felt uneasy now and was anxious to get back to the Home.

On the way across town, Sarah went over the events of the day. Her own world had gone topsy-turvy, and undercurrents of excitement had coursed through the house on the hill. The blighted romance of Hattie Penninger and Mr. Foster—the disappearance of Pop Whistler—the doomed hopes of Martha Jay for the happy marriage of her daughter and the Avon boy. All this under the white-hot blaze of an August sun.

"Hurry," Sarah called to the cab driver. She was impatient to be back at Avon Home.

EVERY WEEK IN THIS NEWSPAPER

A NEWSY, INTERESTING COLUMN FOR OUR WOMEN READERS

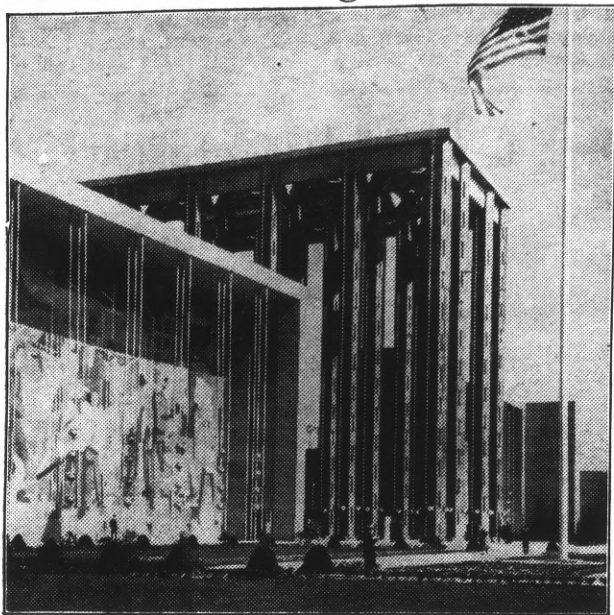

What Do You Think of This Idea?

What do you homemakers think about this idea? Write down your favorite recipe, for any dish, salad or pastry, and mail or bring it in to June Chemnitz, or this newspaper. These famous recipes from homemakers of El Dorado County will be published in Mrs. Chemnitz' column from time to time. Then during the last week in May of this year, during the Homecraft Institute, a complete Cook Booklet of all these recipes will be printed and given free to all those women who have submitted one or more recipes during the intervening time. If you like the idea let us hear from you, soon.

Most of the resident homemakers here know about the Homecraft Institute. But just to refresh your memory and to enlighten new comers, the Homecraft Institute is a combination cooking school, merchandise demonstration and home appliance exhibit which is conducted each spring at the Shakespeare Clubhouse by Jane Barton, home economics editor of The Pacific Rural Press. It is sponsored jointly by this newspaper and The Pacific Rural Press. Dates this year are May 22-23-24.

Federal Building at S. F. Fair

Dominating the extensive area occupied by the varied Federal exhibits on Treasure Island, which opens May 25 for the 1940 season of the Golden Gate International Exposition, is the towering colonnade of the States, flanked by the world's largest murals. Under the direction of Federal Commissioner George Creel, the Federal Area is the scene of many impressive military ceremonies, the welcoming of visiting dignitaries, and the site of highly informative and educational exhibits covering a multitude of governmental activities.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Executive Secretary
Agricultural Council of California

Any California farmer who anticipated "a war boom" as a result of the present European conflict—with a heavy demand for American goods and produce, such as existed during the World War era—doubtless has been disillusioned long since.

England took over the dried fruit production of Australia early in the war, thereby cutting off virtually all United States exports to the British Isles.

And now this virtual embargo has made complete and actual by restrictions prohibiting importation of the following dried fruits, except under license: — apricots, apples, peaches, pears, currants, plums and prunes, nectarines, figs, dates, Muscatel raisins and Sultaninas.

California has been hardest hit by Britain's embargo, as the great bulk of the country's dried fruit is produced in this state, but agriculture throughout the United States has suffered from other aspects of the war situation.

Economically ill-equipped for war, in the long run, is as costly as it is brutal and monstrous. This way, at least, America shall have no illusions about it, for there are no "quick profits" to obscure the day of final reckoning.

The official report of the U. S. Department of Commerce for 1939 on foreign trade shows that the balance of trade, while highly favorable to United States industry, was very unfavorable to the American farmer.

The United States imported only $810,260,143 worth of industrial products, during the same year, and exported $2,233,762,700 worth.

But in farm products, the story was just reversed. The United States imported $1,466,033,998 worth—and exported only $890,136,166 worth.

That comparison explains better than thousands of words of oratory why there is so much agitation among farmers against the reciprocal tariff program.

Those who believe that the use of agricultural by-products in the manufacture of industrial goods may prove to be the salvation of both agriculture and industry will watch developments in Washington during the next few weeks with intense interest.

Congressman B. W. Gearhart of Fresno is pressing for action on his bill (H. R. 6924), which would provide for the building of rural industrial plants, so that farmers could convert their waste by-products and unmarketable surpluses into salable, low cost industrial products.

The "Wizard"

David Lloyd George, England's premier during the last war, is shown as guest of honor at a recent luncheon of the national defense public interest committee in London. The Welsh "wizard," an enthusiastic farmer, spoke on the relation of food production to national defense.

STOCKMEN HOLD ANNUAL MEET

discussions and reports in the convention session and the annual banquet in the evening drew general favorable comment, not only for the excellence of the dinner, which was prepared and served by ladies of the Shakespeare Club under the direction of Mrs. E. K. Fowler, but also for the outstanding entertainment program.

George A. Wilson was the dinner toastmaster and he called upon Ted Chamberlain, president of the California Cattlemen's Association; Dr. Kenneth McCabe, of the University Agricultural Extension Service; John Curry, state association secretary, and Sheriff George M. Smith. All spoke briefly.

This concluded the informal program and the tables were moved from the floor of the clubhouse auditorium and seats were re-arranged.

A typical Rural Industrial Plant, according to Congressman Gearhart, will cost about $75,000, and he estimates that it would convert 15,000 tons of by-products and waste annually into lignin, glucose and other cellulose products, with a gross value of at least $300,000.

Tomorrow's California farmers, members of the 4-H Clubs, had a total investment in their livestock and crop projects last year of $422,294—and garnered in a net profit of $113,740.

In this day and age, that's a remarkable showing. It looks like some of the dads in the farming industry would do well to have a serious, confidential talk with their sons and daughters.

His Children Safe

With a smile of unrestrained joy, John Niemela, of Bark Point, Wisc., awaits the arrival of his two children, Ruth, 11, and Paul, 8, who were stranded in Finland. Niemela was forced to leave them behind when depreciated currency left him only enough for his own return. The state department is paying for their passage.

THE SPIRIT OF

by JOHN CLINTON

Sometimes my cup "runneth over!" This week it splashed right off onto the floor. I not only have a reader, but also a contributor!

First, the contribution of KP of Glendale, Cal. in what reaches almost poetic frenzy, KP writes:

"When a driver madly swerves at your car, you've 'Traffic Nerves.' You'll always dodge this sort of a fix. If you use new Seventy-Six."

Try this new liquid dynamite Union's marketing under the same title of "76." KP wasn't kidding. It really does whip you out of tight spots.

My reader, GS of Berkeley, writes: "Say, are you a real person, John? Or another way of writing an ad?"

Yes, I'm a real person. As for writing an Ad, I leave that to experts. This is my idea of how to sell Union Oil products, and have fun doing it.

For example, it's fun to see your name in print. And it's fun to tell people about things they ought to know about. I got a great kick out of passing along tips on beating "Traffic Nerves."

You can do it partly with new 76 gasoline which is especially blended for traffic driving, and partly by getting a free copy of "How to Reduce Traffic Nerves," from your local Union Oil Station.

This 32-page illustrated booklet is darned good. I'll bet you don't know how taxi drivers keep from getting tired out at the wheel. Do you? Get the book. It's free—and it tells you!

She will compete in May at the Native Sons Grand Parlor in Bakersfield against the southern California winner for state honors.
